John Green

The Fault in Our Stars is a best selling story about a 16-year-old teen named Hazel dealing with cancer, parents, and the fact that she's dying. She meets Augustus Waters at her class and they immediately become inseparable.

Hazel and Augustus have many adventures together going to Amsterdam to meet the writer of Hazel's favorite book. In the story, you watch as Hazel and Augustus fall for each other more and more. You also see how much of a toll their cancer puts on them and their love. This book is a good read for anyone who enjoys romance, love, and loss.

I think everyone should read this book. I would recommend it to girls who like romance, from ages 14 and up. I think most women would enjoy the romance and heartbreak of this book. I rate the book 5 stars because it kept me interested and always wanting to read more. I was excited, anxious, and fearful, and always ready to find out what would happen next.
